We are looking for students for a position as working student in the field of "International Outreach / Social Media" for our Berlin office as of May 1, 2021. As a working student, you will support our international activities within the framework of our membership in the International Federation of Information Processing (ifip.org) in networking with the global computer science community and the implementation of an outreach and social media campaign. The goal is to present informatics topics in an international context, to connect events and experts via social media (Twitter, LinkedIn and YouTube) and to strengthen the connections to other informatics communities worldwide. You can expect varied but also challenging tasks in the areas of social media, network building and maintenance, (online) event management and research. The job is paid with 14 €/h for 20h/week.

The German Informatics Society (GI) is shaping the digital transformation. Since 1969, we have represented the interests of computer scientists in science, society and politics, and we are committed to digitization for the common good.

Your profile:
• You are passionate about computer science and digitization topics (e.g. Internet Governance, Artificial Intelligence, Digital Education) and have a flair for current issues.
• You work independently and on your own initiative, develop your own ideas and solutions, are well organized and flexible.
• You are characterized by a high level of commitment and quick comprehension.
• You enjoy working in small teams, are very reliable and have good communication skills.
• You are confident in using social media - especially Twitter, LinkedIn and YouTube.
• You are fluent in English - ideally as a native speaker - and enjoy working in international settings.

Your tasks:
• Supervision of international social media accounts (Twitter, LinkedIn, YouTube)
• Development and implementation of an editorial plan for social media
• Networking of and exchange with computer science societies from Europe and far beyond
• Research and preparation of digitization topics
• Supporting the organization of international meetings, workshops and events
• Writing of texts, news and event announcements

Please send your application in German or English (cover letter, CV, references in one file) electronically to personal@gi.de with the subject "Working Student International Outreach" by April 10, 2021. If you have any questions regarding the advertised position, please contact Elisabeth Schauermann (elisabeth.schauermann@gi.de).
